21st Residential Retreat - Empowering Relationship

Dear Members,

Human being is a social animal. Binding factor of humanity is the relationships that envelope its existence. There are some relationships which humans acquire by their birth while others they cultivate over their life. Each of this relationship consciously or unconsciously mould their life and contribute to their healthy living and success.

It is important we realize that maintaining healthy relationship with different sects surrounding us is a key to our success. While each relationship goes through its rough patch we must know how we can mend our ways and empower our relationships with our social group to give us contentment and fulfillment in life. This relationship could be between the parent and child, husband and wife, employer and employee, friends, neighbours, society, nations etc.

The three day workshop intends primarily to share through interactive sessions the methods and techniques to Empowering Relationship.
