'Profession @ 2047'

Dear Members,

The Professional Practice landscape is changing dramatically. The accounting profession has sustained and evolved over the last two centuries and is at a critical cross-road today.

The advent of technology, expectation from the ecosystem and attractiveness of the profession are themes of concern to accounting practitioners. So how does one go about with navigating these challenges? Are these challenges or opportunities?

Join us as we crystal-ball into the future with one of the finest thought-leaders of our times, [Shri Shailesh Haribhakti] on a through-provoking session on Profession @ 2047.

- Will accounting practice exist over the next 25 years?
- What would change over the course of this timeframe?
- What would professional firms require to adopt to these changes?
- What new practice models will evolve over time?
- In absence of industrial revolution like tailwinds and a pedigree of more than 100 years, is it possible for new firms today to grow to the size of large international firms?
- How would new-age practice focus areas of Governance, Sustainability, Technology, etc. become more and more relevant?
